PERTH (miningweekly.com) – ASX-listed Lake Resources has launched a definitive feasibility study (DFS) for its Kachi lithium brine project, in Argentina.

A 2020 prefeasibility study (PFS) estimated that the project could have an annual production of 25 500 t/y of battery grade lithium carbonate over a mine life of some 25 years, with the project likely to require a start-up capital investment of $544-million.

“The bridging studies have been underway since the PFS and now the formal engagement of Hatch has occurred,” he added.

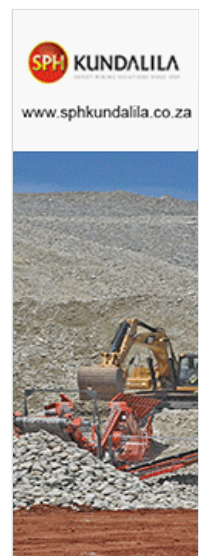

The associated workstreams that will run in parallel with the DFS include the environmental impact study, continued community engagement, and a demonstration plant which will be commissioned on site later in 2021.

The DFS is due for completion by the first quarter of 2022. 🇷🇺
